

Little Gem Magnolia (Magnolia grandiflora ‘Little Gem’)

Images from The University of Florida & Forestryimages.org

All the charm of a southern magnolia in a smaller size. This tree grows in an upright shape and is often used to add evergreen beauty near decks and patios or as a floral screen or hedge. This tree produces fragrant, white flowers from mid-spring to summer, with heavy blooming in early years of growth.

Mature Size: Height of 25-35’ and Spread of 10-12’

Sun Preference: Full sun to partial shade

Soil Preference: Grows in acidic, loamy, moist, sandy, well-drained, and clay soils

For information on how to plant and care for your new tree, visit:

<https://gatrees.org/urban-community-forestry/georgia-releaf-grant-program/> or by scanning the QR code!

